Ideal Beauty?

Enough already! Yes, Gisele is beautiful, but to be featured on the cover of your magazine two months in a row (January, February) is making me question whether she works for you or you for her. I find it difficult to believe she's the only working model in the entire fashion industry W finds cover-worthy. How many more months is it going to take

Groth Industry

I was thrilled to see Michael Groth MD recognized by Ole Henriksen, a facialist in Los Angeles, in "Snip and Tell" (October). This doctor deserves recognition.

I live in Los Angeles, and 10 years ago, Dr. Groth gave me a forehead lift and eye surgery. I have been raving about him ever since. He told me that good eye surgery can last 10 years, and for me it has. Maybe in a year or so, I might consider it again. You can be sure I will return to him. There was no hype; he was honest about what I needed and didn't need, and he spent hours with me.

Incidentally, I enjoy your publication, and I have been a subscriber on and off (more on than off!) since W's inception. Please don't ever give the magazine a younger, trendy look. Not all women who love to shop and really have the money to do it are in their 20s and 30s.

I agree that facialists really know about choosing a plastic surgeon, but I am skeptical about a hairdresser's opinion on cosmetic dentistry. When it comes to cosmetic dentistry, there is more to excellence than shape and translucent color.
